

Title: Are You Conscious?

Date: Jan 04, 2006 07:00 PM

URL: <http://pirsa.org/06010000>

Abstract: The scientific approach to consciousness is a relatively new pursuit, but it has already revealed some startling facts about the cavalcade of feelings, images and thoughts that stream through our heads every waking moment. Jay Ingram will present some of the most surprising of these in a talk based on his best-selling book, Theatre of the Mind. Jay Ingram is the author of several bestselling books, including The Science of Everyday Life, The Barmaid's Brain and The Velocity of Honey. He is producer and co-host of the Discovery Channel's award-winning show Daily Planet, and also contributes a weekly science column to the Toronto Star. He holds two ACTRAs, the Royal Society of Canada McNeil Medal, the Sandford Fleming Medal from the Royal Canadian Institute, the Michael Smith Award for Science Promotion and three Canadian Science Writers Awards. <kw>Are you Conscious?, Jay Ingram, conscious, unconscious, change blindness, inattention blindness, childhood amnesia </kw>

Jay Ingram
Author and Broadcaster

Are You Conscious?

Jan. 4, 2006

FedEx
Express

