Abstract: In a special live webcast with Perimeter Institute on May 6, 2020, theoretical cosmologist and science communicator Katie Mack â€” known to her many Twitter followers as @AstroKatie â€” answered questions about her favourite subject: the end of the universe. Mack is currently a Simons Emmy Noether Fellow at Perimeter and an Assistant Professor at North Carolina State University.

The logo features a large, stylized white 'PI' monogram on the left, where the 'P' and 'I' are connected. To the right of the monogram, the words 'PERIMETER' and 'INSTITUTE' are stacked vertically in a bold, white, sans-serif font. Below this, the words 'PUBLIC LECTURE SERIES' are written in a similar bold, white, sans-serif font. The entire text is centered against a dark blue background with faint, glowing white outlines of continents and lightning bolts.
